In many cases, an individual can do little to change environmental factors. Those lifestyle risks that are under the control of individuals, however, can present the greatest risk.

- 38.3 Minimum Standards. Certain points will be scored for each individual test component. Employee's fitness level for each test will result in a score from 0-20 points. Minimum passing score will be a combined 70 points for all 8 tests as defined in Table 4.1 (Personal fitness Profile).
- 38.4 Employees who do not meet the minimum passing standard of 70 will be assessed on a quarterly basis until they have achieved a passing score. Employees who do not meet the minimum score after two quarterly reevaluations shall be subject to disciplinary action based on the employee's demonstration of improvement.
- 38.5 The first fitness appraisals will occur within 60 days after ratification of this agreement. All subsequent fitness appraisals will be administered annually in the month of July, and become a part of the annual performance evaluation (i.e. a copy of the current NFPA Physical Fitness and Public Safety Personal Fitness Profile scores will be attached to existing employee performance evaluation forms).
- 38.6 Annual fitness appraisal will be administered confidentially. Annual Fitness appraisals will be administered while employees are on-duty. If an employee is unable to perform
